

MRZ is the fashion brand established in 2012 by the Italian company Maglificio Tomas, founded in 1974 by the Marziali's family.

MRZ aims at an independent woman with the vocation for everything contemporary and immediate. It introduces a contemporary proposal where sportswear elements meet femininity and tailoring, together with an unusual use of knit, the DNA of the brand.

Quality. Details. Colours. Shapes. Made in Italy in an international key. Ability to speak in the present. This is MRZ.

Immediately welcomed enthusiastically by the numerous buyers, in 2016 the collaboration with Tomorrow Ltd takes MRZ to the next level, positioning it in a selected stores and boutiques all over the world.

In July 2018 "Vogue Talents" indicated MRZ as one of the best new Italian brand. In January 2019 MRZ presents the collection on the catwalk of Altaroma and, in the following season, debuts at Milan Fashion Week with the Spring Summer 2020 collection and it no longer leaves the fashion calendar.

LIGHTNESS

The Spring Summer 2022 collection offers a moment of suspension from the happenings and frenzy of everyday life through a contact with nature and the sea. MRZ aims to enhance the brand's iconic garments that convey lightness and serenity through a feeling of comfort, watchword of the collection, guaranteed even in the most constructed garments. The SS22 wardrobe is made up of essential, welcoming and refined garments: suits with a masculine allure, completely knitted, shirts with linen inserts or cut-out dresses, pleats and lurex details. Knitwear, the DNA of the Brand, is the protagonist of the collection and through experimental and three-dimensional processes, flat wefts that replace the fabric and showy monochromatic looks, it wants to tell the vision of MRZ. The more elaborate knits can also be combined with the materiality of the fabric with a compact hand and less formal appearance. Inside the collection also focuses on an interpretation of sportswear in an MRZ key, developed entirely in knits for an easy-chic look, through abundant volumes and unexpected combinations of knit and nylon. The colors are full, compact and follow soft nuances such as green sage, blue, beige and white that blend with more intense ones such as brown and black. The SS22 collection wants to offer the MRZ woman an elegant proposal without sacrificing comfort, a feeling that makes each garment versatile and suitable for different occasions.

